HOPE TO REORGANIZE CLOSED BANK

REPORT LINDBERGH'S OPTIMISTIC

NEW INFORMATION CAUSE OF ACTIVITY OF INVESTIGATORS

Colonel Makes Trip; Report Schoeffel In Scotland

HOPEWELL, N. J., April 5.—New information has reached police investigators in the Lindbergh kidnapping case, adding to the recently increased activities which have included mysterious trips by Col. Charles A. Lindbergh.

Lindbergh returned to his estate early this morning after a mysterious airplane trip yesterday—the second in two days. His private plane was seen last evening over the Marthas Vineyard section off the Massachusetts coast.

Then this morning, Col. H. Norman Schwartzkopf, superintendent of New Jersey state police, said in his press conference:

"Investigators are out this morning on information received through the mail and further reports on their findings will be given in a further bulletin."

Where Lindbergh spent the remaining hours until he was sighted traveling over the Providence Road leading to his estate shortly after midnight was not known. At first it was believed he might have stopped at the home of Mrs. Dwight W. Morrow in Englewood, but a person close to the Morrow family said Lindbergh had not been there during the past few days.

Lindbergh with Col. Henry Breckinridge, his legal advisor, hopped off at the Newark airport at 2 p. m. yesterday. Later in the afternoon a plane bearing the marking NC-49 M. Lindbergh's number, was sighted over Martha's Vineyard, Mass. This is the same vicinity over which the lone eagle and three companions were reported on an equally mysterious flight Sunday.

Added to these developments was a statement by John Grier Hib-

DEMOCRATS HIT HOOVER MESSAGE

WASHINGTON, April 5.—President Hoover's latest pleas for economy, delivered to congress in a special message yesterday, have brought from the democrats a demand that he be more explicit in his recommendations.

Outspoken criticisms of the message came from Senator Robinson, Dem., Ark., minority leader, and from Senator Long, Dem., La. The message was defended by Senator Vandenberg, Rep., Mich. While admitting that it would have been helpful if the President had appended a list of specific recommendations, Vandenberg challenged any assertion that Mr. Hoover was shirking responsibility.

Senate action toward the elimination of some government bureaus and coordination of others seems assured. A resolution to that end, sponsored by Senator George Dem., Ga., has been on the calendar for several weeks and probably will receive attention soon.

REFUSES TO APPEAR AS STATE WITNESS

LIMA, April 5.—Although he claims he lost $30,000 in a fake stock transaction three years ago, W. T. Hamilton, of Dayton, today had refused to testify for the state against Joseph Strecker, alias George Sprigman, indicted by the Allen County grand jury on charges of theft in connection with the stock deal.

The indictment was returned after Hamilton had testified before the grand jury. Strecker was being held in Chicago and police John W. Cook of Lima said that Hamilton refused to come to Lima to sign papers necessary to bring Strecker to Ohio.

BALLOON RETURNS AFTER GAY SPREE

DAYTON, O., April 5.—A captive balloon, moored to a building here, broke loose Monday, made a twenty-five mile flight to Greenville and returned to collapse within a few miles of the place from which it took off.

Aviators who searched for the balloon said surface winds carried it to Greenville and, upon reaching the higher altitude, the wind direction changed bringing it back to Dayton.

ASK POSTOFFICE BIDS

WASHINGTON, April 5.—Bids for the construction of the Postoffice, Ohio, post office will be called for about April 15, treasury officials said today. Architectural plans are expected to be completed this week.

PAUL FETZ SUCCEEDS FATHER ON CITIZENS BANK DIRECTORATE

HENRY FETZ

PAUL G. FETZ

Henry Fetz Resigns From Board After Long Service

Paul G. Fetz, Xenia business man, was elected a director of the Citizens National Bank by the board of directors at a special meeting Tuesday morning.

He will fill the unexpired term of his father, Henry Fetz, whose resignation as a director was accepted at the same meeting. Mr. Fetz, senior, presented his resignation because of ill health and asked to be relieved of his duties as a board member, the condition of his health making it difficult for him to attend meetings.

His resignation terminated a period of twenty three years as a member of the board. He was originally elected January 12, 1909, to succeed the late G. M. Peters, Cincinnati, and has served continuously since then. He was elected for a new one-year term last January.

Paul G. Fetz is a well-known Xenia business man. He now operates the Fetz Bros. grocery, at Detroit and Second Sts., of which his father was a founder and is also an officer of The Criterion, Inc., which operates the Criterion clothing store, S. Detroit St.

The board of the Citizens National Bank is now composed of R. D. Adair, George Galloway, M. L. Wolf, Dr. H. C. Messenger, H. S. LeSourd, Harry D. Smith and Paul G. Fetz.

POULTRY PROMOTER FACES LONG TERM

CLEVELAND, O., April 5.—Convicted on four counts in an indictment charging use of the mails to defraud, Irwin J. Bernstein, 35, was to be sentenced today by Federal Judge Samuel H. West.

The maximum penalty for each of the four counts on which Bernstein was found guilty is five years imprisonment and $5,000 fine.

Bernstein was convicted in connection with the failure of the Rosemead Poultry Farms, Inc., of Elyria, La., which was incorporated for $1,000,000 in 1927 and many persons invested money in the project, according to Assistant District Attorney Charles I. Russo.

Government testimony showed that dividend checks were discontinued shortly after the project got under way.

PLAN DEDICATION OF STATE BUILDING

COLUMBUS, O., April 5.—Preliminary plans for dedication of the state office building now nearing completion were made Monday, as the state office building commission met to open bids on landscaping and for the furnishing of food lights.

Col. Carmel A. Thompson, Cleveland, chairman, and W. H. Wiley, Cincinnati, a member, were appointed a committee to confer with the Columbus Chamber of Commerce on the dedication. It is hoped the building will be ready for occupancy shortly after the first of May.

The firm of Cassinelli and Brumme, Inc., Cincinnati, with a base bid of $33,044 was low on landscaping. Other bidders and their base bids included the Seibenthaler Co., Dayton, $34,850; and the Davey Tree Expert Co., Inc., Kent, $42,544.

NEW OFFICERS TO GET SMALLER WAGE

COLUMBUS, O., April 5.—Mrs. Rose Beatty, Cleveland, new matron of the Girls' Industrial School at Delaware, will receive $2,400 a year or $1,200 less than Miss Dorothy D. Henry, Cleveland, whom she succeeds, according to John McSweeney, state welfare director.

Mrs. John H. Berry, Athens, will receive $1,400 a year or $1,400 less than Miss Louise Moyse, Cleveland, whom she succeeds as assistant matron. Mrs. Bell B. Howell, Columbus, who was appointed to the newly created job of director of education at the school, will receive $2,000.

WILL FACE CHARGE

NEW PHILADELPHIA, O., April 5.—Scott County, Ind., officers were to come here today to return Paul A. Kurtz, 31, to Carruthersville, Ind., to face a non-support charge. Kurtz was questioned by officers here in connection with the disappearance of Mrs. Edith Cuthrell, of Carruthersville, last March 17. He denied knowing the woman.

NOW YOU KNOW WHO'S BOSS

Buster Keaton Takes Kids On Plane Ride
Despite Veto By Wife, Natalie

HOLLYWOOD, Calif., April 5.—Buster Keaton was homebound today after an airplane ride which the "dead pan" screen comic said showed "who was head of the house."

His flight to San Diego with his two children and their nurse brought him temporary detention for questioning by police when his wife's fears for the children's safety led her to ask authorities to stop them.

The episode was explained today as a misunderstanding. Officers who stopped the comedian said he told them first he was going "down near Ensenada, Mexico, and buy a ranch and have chickens, cows and peace so the children can get closer to nature."

The officers acted on instructions from District Attorney Burton Fitts of Los Angeles who telephoned them after Mrs. Keaton, the former Natalie Talmadge, conferred with him.

Fitts telephoned from Los Angeles.

"I'm just showing her a few things," Keaton said, when the district attorney spoke of Mrs. Keaton. "I want people to know who's head of this family. I'm going to Ensenada or some place."

Authorities in San Diego decided there was no reason to hold Keaton longer, so the comedian took his children and left the station, saying:

"Ha, I guess I'm head of my own house, after all."

Mrs. Keaton said: "Buster and I argued several times about the children going plane riding. I didn't want them to go up. But there's nothing serious about it and it's all fixed up now."

DOUBLES UP WORK

CROOKSVILLE, O., April 5.—Horticulturists attempt to grow where there was but one; poultrymen set their goal at an egg per hen per day, but Fred Printz has gone deeper into the problem of forcing nature's hand.

Printz has, by careful breeding, produced a flock of eleven plymouth rock pullets which lay nothing but double-yolk eggs. He started several years ago with one double-yolk pullet. He eliminated fowls not true to this type and believes he sees the possibility of hereditary double-yolkers.

"Neither my flock, nor any part of it is for sale at any price," said Printz.

EFFICIENT POLICE NEEDED FOR HAWAII REPORT OF PROBER

No Organized Crime In Islands Senate Learns

WASHINGTON, April 5.—Assistant Attorney General Seth W. Richardson reported to the senate today that inefficiency in the police and prosecuting attorneys' offices are mainly responsible for the present condition of unrest and seeming disorder in the Hawaiian Islands.

Richardson reported to the senate in response to a resolution directing the attorney general to investigate and report upon conditions in Hawaii. He spent several weeks taking a dozen volumes of testimony and studying the situation on the ground.

No organized crime and little evidence of a crime wave was found, Richardson told the senate. Not only has there been less crime in Honolulu than reported, he declared, but also less than exists in many continental American cities of like size.

But "ample evidence of extreme laxity on the part of the administration of law enforcement agencies," was found, Richardson continued. "We found a condition of inefficiency in the administration of justice which, in effect, constituted an invitation to the commission of crime, and which had largely destroyed the morale of the law enforcement agencies, with a resulting loss of public confidence. We found that such conditions

STRIKE HAS NOT CLOSED PANHANDLE

WHEELING, W. Va., April 5.—The bituminous coal strike called by the United Mine Workers April 1 is having little effect on operations in the West Virginia Panhandle district, operators said today.

Pickets were posted at the Elm Grove mine but deputy sheriffs said they made no attempt to keep workers from entering the shaft. It was reported pickets would be sent from the eastern Ohio field in an effort to encourage the strike here.

TO RAZE THEATER

CLEVELAND, O., April 5.—The old Colonial Theatre in downtown Cleveland, built in 1903, will be torn down soon to make way for a parking lot. It was announced today in its early years the theatre was the Shubert House here when the Shuberts were attempting to break the Erlanger "Theatre Trust." Later motion pictures and musical comedies were exhibited in the Colonial.

YOUTH RECAPTURED AFTER ESCAPE FROM HOSPITAL IN XENIA

Wounded Boy Found In Springfield And Returned Here

Carl Huff, 17, Springfield, robbery suspect, confined in McClellan Hospital recuperating from a bullet wound in the right thigh, escaped from the hospital sometime during the night Monday but was recaptured Tuesday morning by police in Springfield.

Huff, one of a quintet of Springfield youths alleged to have broken into a railroad section shanty and stolen articles of clothing Saturday afternoon, was shot when he attempted to escape from pursuing officers.

Removing Huff to the hospital for an examination and treatment of his injury, police had not considered it necessary to place him under guard.

The bullet wound not being of a serious nature, the youth stole away from the hospital during the night. After the escape was discovered, Springfield authorities were notified and the fugitive's arrest resulted Tuesday morning.

Police Chief O. H. Cornwell, who fired the bullet that struck the boy, went to Springfield Tuesday morning to bring him back to Xenia. Because of his good previous record, Robert Haley, 17, youngest member of the group rounded up for the robbery of the shanty, was turned over to his father by Judge Judge S. C. Wright Monday.

Charles Lowdermilk, 17, another member of the group, apprehended in Springfield, was turned back to police by Judge Wright, following an investigation of the boy's case. Lowdermilk is a ward of the Clark County juvenile court and Judge Wright instructed police that they can return him to the custody of Springfield authorities if they do not wish to hold him.

Questioning of the suspects by police brought statements that Huff was the only one who entered the section shanty, and that he did so against the advice of his companions.

Two other youths are also being held in connection with the loot. They are Emory Armstrong, 18, and Ansel Brunfield, 18, who pleaded guilty to train riding charges in Municipal Court Monday. Judge E. Dawson Smith deferred sentence in their cases until Wednesday.

ASK FOR CLOTHING

COLUMBUS, O., April 5.—An appeal for used clothing for needy miners' families in southeastern Ohio was made today by George E. Neil, of Columbus, president of the Asbestos Workers Union. Neil said in many cases school children did not have shoes or pencils.

NEW YORK AND WISCONSIN VOTE TO SELECT PARTY DELEGATES

WASHINGTON, April 5.—Two unique primaries today usher in the active stage of the great American game of selecting a president.

In the largest state, New York, and in the most independent state, Wisconsin, both parties are selecting delegates. These are the first of the big April primaries which will pretty well decide how the presidential nominations are to go—Illinois, Pennsylvania and Massachusetts coming later in the month.

New York's great prize in both parties, will select its delegates today, ninety in each case. Later at state conventions, the Republicans will select seven additional delegates at large and the Democrats four.

New York does not provide for pledging its delegates but the Republicans will be for renomination of President Hoover. The Democrats are doubtful. Managers of Governor Franklin D. Roosevelt claim more than half of the delegates will be personally friendly.

ROOSEVELT MAN TO BE KEYNOTER

SENATOR BARKLEY

JOUETT SHOUSE

CHICAGO, April 5.—Recommendation of Senator A. W. Barkley of Kentucky as temporary chairman and keynoter of the Democratic national convention and Jouett Shouse as keynoter, as the national executive committee, as permanent chairman was seen today as a compromise in the interest of party harmony.

The recommendations, subject to ratification by the national committee and convention, were made by the subcommittee on arrangements after a day of wrangling.

Senator Barkley was the choice of supporters of Gov. Franklin D. Roosevelt of New York. Many eastern leaders including Mayor Frank Hague of Jersey City, Chairman

John J. Raskob and others of the faction of former Gov. Alfred E. Smith wished Shouse as keynoter.

Both sides, however, expressed pleasure at the result.

Shouse, weary after the long argument, his red necktie awry, said: "Our conference today was one of the most harmonious ever held. I want to point out particularly that the vote was unanimous."

The compromise was made after a poll showed a deadlock likely. The Roosevelt group then withdrew under leadership of James A. Farley, manager of the New York governor's campaign, and conferred with Roosevelt by long distance telephone. It was after this conference that the agreement was reached.

DARROW BECOMES VEHEMENT AS HE QUIZZES POSSIBLE JURORS

COURTROOM, Honolulu, T. H., April 5.—Half a dozen prospective jurors drawn from Hawaii's "melting pot" occupied the box today as Clarence Darrow dropped his studied wariness and like a roaring lion prepared for the second day's battle in the defense of four accused American "honor slayers."

Calm and unruffled until a wordy conflict over the "unwritten law" appeared to go against him, Darrow threw aside his pose as if it were his loose-fitting coat.

Shouting and gesticulating to judge and venire in the crowded little court, he again was the militant warrior.

Mrs. Grace Bell Fortescue, New York and Washington socialite, and her three men co-defendants, shared none of Darrow's emotion. Seated beside him at a counsel table, they watched as he parried for a chance to link their asserted victim, Joe Kahahawai, with an attack on Mrs. Fortescue's daughter, Thalia Fortescue Massie.

The society woman's son-in-law, Lieut. Thomas H. Massie, jointly accused with her, leaped forward and gripped his chair as the name of his young wife was mentioned. The other two defendants, E. J. Lord and Albert O. Jones, navy enlisted men, looked embarrassed in the strange surroundings.

Darrow questioned Kenneth Bankston, an American veneer man, as the first day's session drew to a close. His queries indicated a defense plan to submit their case without introduction of evidence. John Kelley, ready-tongued public prosecutor, opposed this. Quickly he interposed a question to Bankston:

"Are you willing to return a verdict, understanding that the guilt or innocence of Kahahawai in the Ala Moana (the Massie attack) case has nothing to do with the present trial?"

AUTO KILLS YOUTH
PORTSMOUTH, O., April 5.—Leroy Russell, 15, died here from injuries received when he was struck by an automobile driven by W. S. Queens, an evangelist.

WILL HELP INGALLS
COLUMBUS, O., April 5.—Dr. John W. Wilce today had been elected general chairman of the David S. Ingalls for governor campaign in Franklin County.

Darrow leaped to his feet and shouted, "I should say the Ala Moana case certainly has something to do with this case."

He was fighting now. He pounded a desk and turned to Circuit Judge Charles S. Davis, austere young Harvard man.

Judge Davis ruled out Kelley's question, but warned a formal ruling later may strike at the foundation of Darrow's case.

"I hardly see how Kahahawai's guilt or innocence in the Massie case can be legally injected into this case," he said.

VALIDITY OF STATE CHARITY BOND BILL WILL COME TO TEST

Hamilton Countian To Bring Test Action
Against Bills

CINCINNATI, O., April 5.—Prosecutor Robert Gorman of Hamilton County announced today he would institute friendly proceedings in the Ohio Supreme Court later this week to test the validity of the measures providing for unemployment relief bonds passed by the special session of the general assembly. The action will follow authorization, probably today, of the first issue of relief bonds by county commissioners here.

Gorman said he was told by Howard Bevis, state finance director, last night that a Cleveland firm of bond attorneys had questioned the legality of any bonds issued under the special legislation.

COLUMBUS, O., April 5.—A test of constitutionality of the Espy-Roberts act, passed by the special session of the general assembly, will be sought to determine validity of unemployment relief bonds which the act authorizes.

Governor White, meanwhile, was expected to sign today the five relief bills passed by the session.

Attorney-General Gilbert Bettman was asked to bring a friendly suit in the case of the Espy-Roberts measure after a conference between the Governor, members of the cabinet, bond attorneys and A. V. Cannon, chairman of the Cuyahoga County relief committee.

The chief issue involved is whether the bill indirectly attempts to pledge the state to guarantee payment of the debt incurred by counties that issue relief bonds, to be redeemed by revenue from the increased public utility excise tax.

STOCKHOLDERS ARE FAVORING MOVE TO OPEN INSTITUTION

Majority Agrees To Plan;
Now Working On Details

Sentiment in favor of a reorganization of the Commercial and Savings Bank Co., which was closed voluntarily by the board of directors last February 29, was expressed by a majority of stockholders of the institution at a meeting Monday afternoon at Masonic Temple.

The meeting was called by the directors and all but four or five of the approximately fifty-four stockholders were present, representing in excess of 300 of the total 500 shares of capital stock. A large majority indicated they would support a reorganization plan.

Attorney W. L. Miller, member of the board presided at the meeting. D. J. Schurr, special deputy superintendent of the State Banking Department, in charge of liquidation of the Xenia bank, who was present said the state department would approve a reorganization if the project is carried out along sound financial lines.

Under the plan proposed, the stockholders would each be assessed 100 per cent on their shares of stock, creating a prospective fund of $50,000 to be invested in the institution, the bank being capitalized at $50,000.

The meeting was adjourned until Tuesday, April 18, when the stockholders will again be assembled and a definite decision reached as to whether reorganization is possible.

If a reorganization materializes, Attorney Miller declared he has no hesitancy in predicting that a number of changes will be made in the personnel of the stockholders. He indicated the probability of new capital being invested in the project.

The state banking department would not require the bank to surrender its present charter, if reorganized, and the liquidation procedure would immediately be terminated by the state when the bank is turned back to the corporation, it is said.

A reorganization, Attorney Miller feels, would not only be beneficial to the community but would be highly advantageous to the depositors.

"Details of the plan will have to be worked out within the next two weeks," a spokesman for the directors stated. "A plan would be devised for payment to depositors, who would be certain to receive their money within a much shorter space of time. A reorganization would establish the bank again as a going concern."

SENATOR WILL LEAD SALES TAX DRIVE

WASHINGTON, April 5.—Senator Reed, Republican, Pennsylvania, is going to lead a senate campaign for the general sales tax which the house rebelled against and defeated.

"The manufacturers sales tax is worth fighting," Reed said today. "If the democrats will accept in the senate the Crisp (sales tax) bill that was offered in the house, we Republicans ought to be able to give them enough votes to pass it. They could logically do that. The Crisp bill was a Democratic measure."

Acting Chairman Crisp of the ways and means committee was among the sponsors of the sales tax in the house. The rank and file of the house democrats turned against the leaders on this issue and forced substitution of a program of special excise and sales levies.

MAN FOUND BURNED TO DEATH IN HOME

PIQUA, O., April 5.—The body of Robert Mitchell, 71, was found late Monday partially cremated, lying in front of an open gas stove in his home here.

Indications were that he had suffered a stroke or heart attack and had fallen directly in front of the stove. His shoulders and abdomen were burned.

Mitchell for twenty years was in the salvage department at the Ford Motor Car Co. in Detroit. He retired about four years ago and came here to live. The body was discovered by his negro cook, Walter Johnson.

PLAN SAFETY LANES TO REMEDY
SLIPPERY PART OF DAYTON PIKE

In the "very near future" the maintenance division of the state highway department will construct two safety lanes on the outside of the present slippery stretch of the Dayton-Kenia Pike from the Kenia city limits to the Beaver Creek Church, a distance of about five miles.

This information was contained Tuesday in a letter received from Luke Brannon, Cincinnati, resident division deputy state highway director, by Henry W. Walsh, resident state highway engineer for Greene County.

Following numerous complaints made by motorists, Engineer Walsh had called attention of the highway maintenance department to the dangerous condition of this five-mile section of the pike when the pavement is wet.

The contemplated safety lanes on each side of the highway will be about five feet in width and the reconstruction will consist of surface treatment of heavy material in which No. 4 stone will be rolled. The lanes will be constructed within the next six weeks, according to Engineer Walsh's information.

The surface treatment on either side of the highway "will allow vehicles to have one lane on which two wheels will ride on an abrasive surface intended to counteract skidding," Deputy Director Brannon wrote.

"This was thought advisable after an examination of this section of the highway, as the surface of the road is in excellent condition as far as stability of the base is concerned," declared the director.

Notwithstanding extremely adverse business conditions prevailing during the year 1931, the results accomplished by the Pennsylvania Railroad, while not satisfactory, were better than those attained by railroads generally and reflect credit upon the loyalty and fortitude of the officers and the employees.

Continued co-operation of stockholders, bondholders and employees is again solicited in securing additional passenger and freight traffic for the Pennsylvania Railroad.

FIND ALL-BRAN HAS TWICE THE USABLE IRON IN LIVER

Also Furnishes "Bulk" and Vitamin B to Overcome Common Constipation

Liver is known as a good source of iron for the blood. Now, new tests show Kellogg's ALL-BRAN contains twice as much blood-building iron as an equal amount by weight of beef liver.

But more important still, laboratory experiments show ALL-BRAN provides "bulk" to exercise the intestines, and Vitamin B to tone the intestinal tract.

This means Kellogg's ALL-BRAN is a fine way to overcome constipation—with the headaches, loss of appetite and energy that so frequently result.

The "bulk" in ALL-BRAN is much like that of lettuce. Inside the body, it absorbs moisture, forming a soft mass, which gently clears the intestines of wastes. Special cooking processes make ALL-BRAN finer, milder, more palatable.

How much better than risking pills and drugs—so often habit-forming. Just eat two tablespoons of ALL-BRAN daily for most types of constipation. It is not habit-forming. If your intestinal trouble is not relieved this way, see your doctor.

Appetizing recipes on the red-and-green package. At all grocers. Made by Kellogg in Battle Creek.

had given rise to a feeling of personal unsafety among a substantial portion of the citizens.

"We therefore believe that the unusual conditions of race, society, and industry in the territories, make a continuance of such laxity fraught with much social and political danger."

His findings do not indicate that Hawaii should be governed by an appointive commission, as has been suggested. Richardson reported, but did convince him that several changes in its government should be made at once. He therefore made the following major recommendations to the senate:

1—"The appointment by the President, with confirmation by the senate, of a territorial police head for the entire territory, the full power of control and organization to be given to such police head, to the end that ultimately a territorial constabulary may be formed."

2—"The appointment by the President, with confirmation by the senate, of an attorney general for the territory, who shall be the public prosecutor and, with his deputies, shall have exclusive charge of prosecutions throughout the territory, superseding all other prosecutors."

3—"For sake of economy, only 'abolish the United States district court and transfer its jurisdiction to the circuit courts, with an appeal to the supreme court of the territory, whose decisions are reviewable by the supreme court of the United States.'"

(All Hawaiian judges are now appointed by the President and there is no criticism of Hawaiian courts, Richardson said. His third recommendation was suggested as a means of saving money, both for the government and for litigants, and expediting justice.)

Recent Hawaiian legislation, which made the police head a locally appointive rather than elected office, is "an improvement, but insufficient to meet coming necessities," Richardson said.

"We found the police administration in Honolulu impotent, undisciplined, neglectful and unintelligent, with its chief concern political economy," he declared. "We found the county sheriff, the head of the police system, wholly inexperienced in police administration."

"To be effective the head of the police department should be removed from politics. The racial characteristics of the population, as well as the great political activity, require it. Moreover, in the event of a great national emergency in the Pacific area, any police organization, subject to political control, will make more difficult the task of national defense."

The new Hawaiian law which makes the public prosecutor of Honolulu appointed by the mayor of Honolulu, is also an improvement over former conditions but inadequate to meet the need, stated Richardson.

"We found the prosecutions of crime in the hands of various county attorneys throughout the territory," he reported, "in Honolulu, we found an inexperienced, inefficient county attorney, immersed in politics, his deputies appointed largely for political purposes, with insufficient funds at his disposal to provide suitable deputies."

He found no serious complaint of the island's jury system, said Richardson. Judges with whom he conferred minimized objections made on account of the mixed racial make up of juries.

"The prison system was very inefficient," the investigator reported. "The prisoners were improperly guarded both within and without the prison and the entire administration of prison affairs was extraordinarily lax....the parole system we found to be exceedingly lax. No proper records are kept of paroles, no report of paroled prisoners were required, and only a single parole officer was provided, and his duties were largely playing politics. There were several hundred paroled prisoners about the territory, concerning whom no report had been made for years."

"We found much prostitution in the territory, due largely to the large number of service men stationed within the territory."

"The enforcement of the prohibition law compared favorably with conditions on the mainland. We were not impressed with seriousness of alleged bad conditions on the public beaches. Undoubtedly objectionable incidents have taken place in that regard but we do not think they constitute a material element in crime conditions in the territory."

"We do not think the public report we made with respect to alleged proclivities of members of the Hawaiian race in sexual crime is substantiated by the facts."

"We found army and navy conditions normal. We found no particular racial resentment between the service units and the island populations, and, while the service units undoubtedly contribute materially to the crime conditions in the territory, we do not think such conditions are any different than exist in the mainland where an equal number of service men are stationed adjacent to an urban population."

"We see a serious unemployment condition looming in the not distant future....something must be done to stop the importation into the territory of any more common laborers."

"So far as the existing cases of prominence, in which the public has shown much interest, are concerned, we have not occupied ourselves with an examination of those cases....judges who deal with these cases seem competent. The present prosecutor also seems competent, and it is hoped that the courts of the territory can function fearlessly and efficiently."

"We have some apprehension as to the effect upon racial antagonisms in the territory, due to the violent partisanship existing in the island with respect to the pending rape and murder cases. What that situation may eventually be, no man may at this time intelligently foresee."

BIBLE THOUGHT FOR TODAY

For your shame ye shall have double; and for confusion they shall rejoice in their portion: therefore in their land they shall possess the double: everlasting joy shall be unto them.—Isaiah, lxi, 7.

SO THIS IS APRIL

April is a flippant, tantalizing, capricious and inconsistent month, but nevertheless she is much beloved. For April in the Northern Hemisphere is spring. With her arrival come bright, clear spring sunlight soft rains, tightly wrapped green buds and tiny spurs of grass.

Suddenly, with summer and her wealth of flowers almost within grasp, an unaccountable impatience makes potted hyacinths, sunny yellow tulips and slender jonquils seem indispensable. Street flower vendors with baskets of exquisite waxy gardenias, fluttering sweet pea blossoms and fragrant violets exert an irresistible attraction for the flower lover. And if she is a woman, no matter how resolutely she has passed these same vendors during the winter, now she finds herself with her nose suddenly buried in a cluster of cool fragrance. Coins seem too petty a reason to forgo such loveliness. But this might never have happened in February or March; it is the result of April's blithe influence.

As for clothes, there never was such a month as April for making winter garments seem too stuffy, if not also a bit threadbare. Shop windows displaying smart spring clothes attract both masculine and feminine admirers. Were the colors ever so charming before, the fashions so captivating, and wherewithal so practicable? With April looking over one's shoulder, it doesn't seem so.

Then there is the matter of "doing things" and "going places." Before April's breezy arrival home seemed immaculate, orderly and altogether attractive. But the moment spring appears on the threshold, home makers feel the imperative urge to houseclean. To a man this appears to consist in digging in all out-of-the-way corners, in turning the house topsy-turvy, to clean what has always been kept spotless. However, because the activity has been greater, the satisfaction of both the man and the woman of the house is more when they view shining waxed floors, well-polished furniture and crisp, fresh curtains.

There is also the knowledge that one person, or possibly two, outside the family have been given work during the chaotic housecleaning period. Spring also starts a multitude of other activities humming, for with all her faults, capricious April influences people with the desire to be busy.

And to "go places"? That most of all. Everyone has a spark of adventure in him, and in spring the spark becomes a blaze, for spring is a time for kysing.

Yes; April is a disturbing month, but beloved, for after all, unless she roused the earth to activity could there be any of May's quiet beauty or June's rapturous, golden days?

REGARDING NAMES

According to a story from Santiago, Chile, the topic of the day in diplomatic circles in that city is a demand by the American Ambassador, William S. Culbertson, that the terms "North America" and "North Americans" be abandoned in referring to the United States and its people, and the words "America" and "Americans" substituted. It appears that the matter has been discussed by the Chilean Cabinet and even by newspapers in the Capital, which take Mr. Culbertson's protest with grave seriousness. Perhaps the latter do so because Latin-Americans are habitually polite.

Unquestionably, as the Ambassador says, our Country is "The United States of America" and not the "United States of North America" and in diplomatic correspondence accuracy of address is probably rather desirable. But even so it seems piffing to make a formal point of the matter, and the idea that calling citizens of the United States "North Americans" is a cause for offense, is absurd, not to say childish.

Certainly there is no stigma attached to the expression. Undoubtedly we, along with the Canadians and Mexicans, are North Americans, just as the Chileans and their neighbors are South Americans and the people of the Isthmus are Central Americans, and all of us together are Americans. And while even the term "North Americans" is rather unfortunately broad, and if applied to ourselves by ourselves in an exclusive way, is suggestive of an arrogant assumption that we are the only people north of Honduras, it is considerably more conservative than the general word "Americans" over which Mr. Culbertson is worrying.

We wonder whether there is no real work for the diplomatic representative of the United States in Chile to do that he feels he must spend his time digging up a matter of no earthly consequence to both the government and people in Santiago about. If they like to call us North Americans why should we worry? In case somebody must kick, it ought to be the Canadians and Mexicans.

AFFECTION AMONG NATIONS

An American correspondent in Paris has discovered that France is losing her "old love" for the United States. That's news. The history of Gallic-American relations does not show that France ever had any love for this country. What she contributed to winning the War of Independence was given out of hatred for England rather than out of fondness for the cause of popular liberty.

We too easily confuse Lafayette with France. Citizen Genet, whom Washington had to throw out of the United States, was a fitter exponent of his countrymen's attitude toward our nascent republic, an attitude that came to the fore again when Louis Napoleon wanted to aid the Confederacy in its effort to break up the Union, without being quite able to rally the necessary nerve to do so.

Washington observed, with infinite reason: "There can be no greater error than to expect or calculate upon real favors from nation to nation." There is no love lost between peoples. They are all out to aggrandize themselves. Whatever friendship or "love" exists between nations has a basis in self-interest, which changes with circumstances. When England went to France's rescue in 1914 it ceased to be "perfidie Albion." Yet its refusal to support the French attempt to bring about a Danubian "bund" threatens to revive that name in France. The United States saved France from being wiped off the map in the World War. Yet that is forgotten in the resentment engendered in France by this Country's insistence that business transactions be conducted according to business principles.

The sooner we wake up to the fact that other countries do not love us the sooner shall we get over the desire to rush to their assistance every time they stub their toes.

MY NEW YORK

By JAMES ASWELL

NEW YORK.—This morning's mail brought a long, juicy letter from an old friend who has seen Hollywood and movie making from many angles. He was a star script writer in the old silent days, and when the miracle of speech first squeaked into the astonished ears of audiences he was on hand with note-book and ear trumpet, ready to work.

We provincials in New York seldom get into focus on the "Arabian Nights" of the Coast celluloid city. What this veteran of the lot has to say is highly colored by an active personal opinion. He may be screwy on most of the things he says. He may be all wet.

But at least his revelations are lively and set down in neither malice nor press-agentry. I pass them on, disclaiming responsibility with a bow in all possible directions:

"In my opinion (and I've never met this guy) the best director in the game today is a fellow you probably never heard of (Ed. note: But I have!)—a little fellow, Frank Capra, of Columbia Pictures.

"If I had $250,000 to invest in a picture, and my pick of directors to put it over with all the box office merit possible, plus pace, inventiveness, getting miraculous results out of many troopers, swell camera angles and photoplay, I'd pick Capra ahead of the Lubitsches, Milestones, Borzages and know that my $250,000 was SAFE."

PAIM TO ZASU

"The best actress in Hollywood is, strangely enough, stamped as a custard-pie comic. I mean Zasu Pitts. She has more genuine drama in her little fingernail than Marie Dressler ever had. Pitts' performance in 'Greed' was the greatest acting ever seen on the screen. But audiences won't take her seriously since she started two-reelers and comedy relief. Talk about irony.

"The best actor—Wallie Beery. He doesn't know a damn thing about acting. Always plays himself. That's why he's such a swell mug."

BACK TO BROADWAY

My lady friends insist that the way to buy a hat of correct size is to measure, not the head, but the profile from the base of the skull to the base of the chin, and get the number of inches of the hat's head-size... Which is gibberish to me, but may not be to you...

Already they are talking about "the new season" in the theater... Hal Leroy, the dancing sensation of the past couple of semesters, is approaching his nineteenth birthday... His press-agent used to be Elmer Dressman, editor of the Kentucky World, a bright, newsy and sleekly made-up talking back.

The dime novel is coming back, this time in the form of modern thrillers by popular authors, to be vended through the chain 10-cent stores... A guy in Cuba writes that he tuned in on me via television the other afternoon, but couldn't hear a word, adding: "Maybe it would have been better if I could have heard some sort of noise."

GRAB BAG

In what country were peaches first grown?

Are pineapples grown in the United States?

How many grapes does it take to make a ton of raisins?

Correctly Speaking—"Charge" should be combined, when it means accuse, not with "of," but with "with." Say "The charged him with many crimes." Not "They charged him of many crimes."

Today's Anniversary On this day, in 1788, Mississippi territory was established by congress.

Today's Horoscope Persons born on this day have much mechanical ability, good intellect, strong will, and stubborn determination.

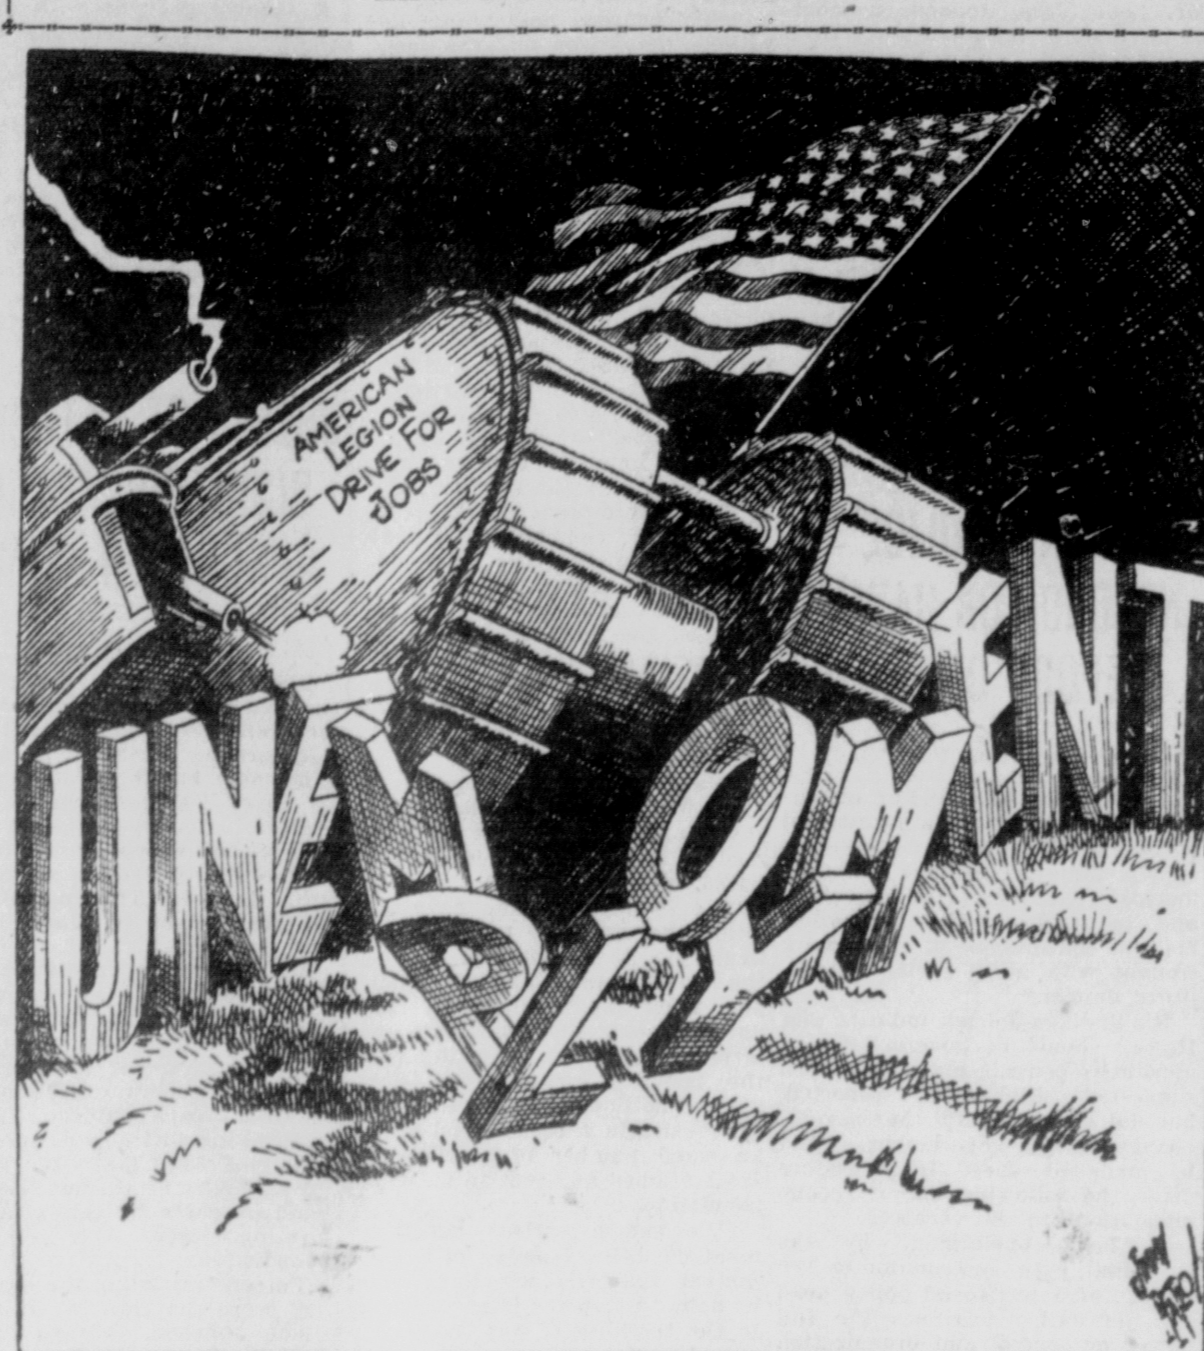

Answers to Foregoing Questions 1. The peach is supposed to be a native of China.

2. Florida is the only state in which the pineapple is successfully raised for commercial purposes in the United States.

3. Approximately four tons of grapes, having 24 per cent sugar, will make one ton of raisins, properly cured.

LEADING THE WAY AGAIN!

Europe Appears Amused At Uncle Sam's Problem In Making Budget Balance

WASHINGTON—Americans are so self-centered!

In the midst of industrial stagnation, agricultural distress, and widespread unemployment, all they seem to realize is that they are having a mighty hard time.

They never give a thought to the innocent enjoyment which millions of Europeans evidently are getting out of the spectacle on this side of the Atlantic. Apparently the old world is able to forget its own troubles in the depression throughout the United States.

The last few days especially have brought columns of comment from over the water, expressing the keenest relish of the budgetary performance in Washington.

Paris, Berlin, Rome and lesser European capitals are highly appreciative.

Moscow is delighted, of course.

The English are most amused of the entire outfit. The London National Review speaks of "the pricked bubble of American efficiency."

The London Daily Mail refers to "lost Yankee prestige." The London Times mentions Uncle Sam's "tragical helplessness" in meeting the unemployment problem.

Anyone who imagines that there is a particle of sympathy for the United States in this British interpretation of the situation is grandly mistaken.

The Englishman is enlightened enough to understand that bad times in a country as large as America necessarily are felt all over the world—in his own land, among others. Consequently he does not wish such conditions to prevail here indefinitely. However, he devoutly desires to have them continue until England has recovered its foreign trade, unhampered by Yankee interference.

Prolonged disorganization of American exchange in overseas markets naturally greatly favors the program.

There are unsophisticated Americans who fancy that the rivalry they meet with from the English in neutral commercial fields is friendly.

It is, in fact, about as friendly as was English commercial rivalry with the Germans, against whom Great Britain went to war.

It is instructive to watch American and English merchants vying with one another for customers in a mart, for example, like Buenos Aires, where I have observed them engaged in it.

There the essential advantage of the Britons is in superior banking facilities—which is an enormous, generally decisive advantage, in the long run. Both nationalities have local branches of their home banks, but the English managers are of many years' experience in the country (some of them born there), while the American managers are changed faster than they can learn the language.

Nevertheless, the Americans had matters largely their own way by default for the major part of the post-war decade, during which the English had not much of anything to offer; now that they are somewhat rehabilitated, they are beginning to reassert themselves.

The River Platte market is fairly typical of the markets elsewhere in the world.

That the satisfaction of Moscow at Uncle Sam's difficulties is political scarcely requires saying.

The satisfaction in Paris probably is wantonly malicious.

London's satisfaction is purely businesslike. The English believe the time is ripe to regain their old commercial prestige, into which Americans had cut seriously. They are glad of the opportunity.

HOUSEHOLD HINTS

By MRS. MARY MORTON

Meat Loaf Baked Potatoes
Cream Scalloped Cabbage
Molded Tomato Salad
Cake With Maple Frosting
Tea Milk

This menu will serve for at least two days. On the second day the meat loaf may be served cold, the potatoes hashed and fried, the cabbage warmed over and the cook can easily make enough of the molded salad to last two days. Keep the remains of the cake in a covered tin box and it will be good, too.

Today's Recipes

Maple Sugar Frosting—One-half cup maple sugar, one-half cup white sugar, one-fourth cup water, one egg white. Combine ingredients. Heat slowly to boiling, stirring until the boiling point is reached and the sugar dissolved. Boil to the long-thread stage. Set aside. Beat one egg white. Add syrup slowly, continuing the beating. Beat until the mixture will hold its shape. Spread on the cake and sprinkle generously with almonds cut in strips.

Suggestions

Candied Apples—One cup sugar, one cup honey, one-half cup water, one-fourth teaspoon salt, three tart, firm apples. Boil together the sugar, honey, water and salt for a few minutes. Wash, core and pare the apples, cut into half-moon shaped pieces about half an inch thick, drop into the syrup, and cook rapidly until the apples are transparent and practically all the syrup is absorbed. Place on waxed paper to dry.

Taffy—Two cups sugar, one cup brown sugar, one and one-half cups water, four tablespoons melted butter or margarine, four tablespoons vinegar, pinch of soda. Put the sugar, molasses, water and vinegar in a heavy saucepan. Stir until the sugar has dissolved and boil without stirring until it forms a hard ball when dropped in cold water. Remove from the fire, add the butter or margarine, and soda. Stir until mixed, and pour into a greased shallow pan. When cold pull until the taffy is a light golden color. When finished, cut into small pieces and wrap in waxed paper. The candy will remain "chewy" if kept in a refrigerator.

Cut 'Em Thinner

If slices of bread are cut thinner than usual, buttered inside when placed together with cheese or chicken liver filling and toasted in an ordinary electric toaster the result will be as good as if a grill were used. Slices of tomato can be added to the cheese after toasting if desired.

Half and Half

Half water instead of all milk makes a lighter cake.

Important Trifles

Don't paste any recipes into your scrapbook until you know whether the family likes them or not. Keep untried recipes in a separate envelope and try one or two each week. Paste them into your permanent file.

Vary the spring salads with different salad dressings. Try one brand of mayonnaise and then another. Some are more pungent than others. A spoonful of chowchow in the mayonnaise makes it an entirely different dressing, and this is especially good with vegetables.

Tells How Brain Utilizes Sugar

By LOGAN CLENDENING, M. D.

It appears that we will have to give up the fish idea. The intellectual giants can stop eating whales. The latest studies show that the brain lives on sugar.

For many years physiologists have assumed that all tissues in the body utilize all the food stuffs in about equal proportions. That, in other words, protein, fat and carbohydrate were used equally for energy by all parts of the body. The first suggestion that there was some selection exercised was the discovery that muscle satisfies its needs with fat and sugar alone.

Turning their attention to the brain, several investigators have been able to show that this organ uses nothing except sugar in performing its functions. Arterial blood going to the brain is much richer in sugar than the venous blood coming away from it. But there is no change in the fat and protein supply of the two streams of blood. The brain is the only organ we know about which does not need any fat.

People who have diabetes may feel happy to know that the brain uses sugar without requiring any insulin. It seems to be only the muscles which use insulin. So the diabetic patient, as far as our evidence goes, thinks just as well as anybody else.

Send your banker, therefore, a five-pound box of candy and don't get the depression over. If you hear that your favorite author is going in strong for ice cream sodas you may expect another masterpiece soon.

QUESTIONS FROM READERS
R. J. H.: "I believe you mentioned in your column once a remedy or treatment for Riggs disease, commonly known as 'trench mouth'.

Will you please repeat it?"
Answer: Strictly speaking, Riggs disease and trench mouth are not the same thing. Riggs disease is the name sometimes given to pyorrhea, which is an infection of the gums around the teeth from many different causes. Trench mouth is usually restricted to an infection known as "Vincent's infection." The treatment of Riggs disease is both mechanical and medical. The mechanical part of it is to free the teeth from tartar and incrustations and remove the source of infection between the gums and the teeth. The medical treatment is by various antiseptics and applications to the gums, and sometimes the use of emetine in cases where pyorrhea is due to infection with amoebae.

S. L.: "My left eye constantly tears; the lachrymal duct is obstructed. Would you advise leaving it as it is?"

Answer: I would not advise leaving it as it is because the condition is very annoying and treatment is, in most cases, successful. The treatment must be carried out by an oculist and consists of dilation of the lachrymal duct with a probe. It is a common occurrence and all oculists are familiar with the procedure.

J. A.: "Six years ago I had ulcerative colitis. I am better now but I wonder whether it is probable that these ulcers will turn cancerous."

Answer: There is no instance of the ulcers of ulcerative colitis turning into cancer.

Stick To Your Husband

By MRS. VIRGINIA LEE

I know it seems impossible and cold comfort to you girls who are suffering from a broken love affair to have me say that some day you may be very glad the affair was broken off. But it is true, nevertheless, that many and many a damsel has lived to thank "whatever gods there be" for the circumstances that shattered her romance. And then she is apt to look back and wonder to the tears she shed and the moans she moaned for her lost love who has developed into the type of man she could not possibly adore.

Now, lest you think I don't know what I'm talking about, here is a letter from a woman who has had the experience and thinks it may help some of you.

"MY DEAR VIRGINIA LEE: Am writing this in hopes that M. F. K. will see it. I had the same experience as she in marrying a man to please my family, loving another. He was very good to me, but I was very young and thought I couldn't live with a man I didn't love, so left him. After 20 years I got a divorce. Some time after my husband died.

A short time after I met the man I was to have married in the first place and have seen quite a lot of him since. He is married, and believe me, with all I have gone through, I am more than thankful that I never married him.

"I hope M. F. K. sees this and sticks to the man she married and isn't as foolish as I was. I am still single and hope to stay so for my few short years left.

"BROKEN LIFE."

I imagine many girls would give thanks for their deliverance if they could look ahead 20 years and see the type of men their lovers have grown into. Better a little heartache when you are young, than a lifetime of unhappiness through wedding the wrong man.

Thank you for writing. I strongly feel that marriage is a serious step, not to be lightly entered into, and to be annulled only after the greatest deliberation and for the gravest causes. I too, hope M. F. K. sees this.

"DEAR MISS LEE: I am a boy 18. Mother won't let me get acquainted with any girls. She won't introduce me to any of the girls that come to the house. My parents watch me all the time, won't let me speak.

"Mother says the girls are not good girls, but there ought to be one in town. She talks about everybody. What would you do?"

"KIPPLING."

If your letter is true, you are certainly getting a tough break. Kipling, to be kept from getting acquainted just when you are the correct age to go with girls and have a gay time before settling down.

Can't you get acquainted with girls at school? Or if you're a working man, aren't there girls where you work? You can't defy your parents while you live at home and are not of age. And it is always possible that one's parents know best, you know. In three more years you will be your own master. Do the best you can now with boy pals, and look forward to the end of the three years when you can step out for yourself.

Gives Hints About Hair Beauty

By GLADYS GLAD

When La Garbo came east for a little vacation not so long ago, I decided to do a bit of Winchelling for you all. Because, you see, I thought that this famous star employs to bring out those beautiful highlights in her lovely hair. And I am glad to report that my amateur efforts were successful.

For La Garbo, it seems, is a devotee of the camomile tea rinse. If I remember correctly, I've explained the merits of the camomile tea rinse for bringing out the highlights in blonde and brown hair before. But this time I've a new suggestion that is even more effective. And that is that those of you who use the camomile tea rinse precede it with a camomile tea shampoo.

You've never heard of a camomile tea shampoo? Well, it's really quite simple to prepare, and you can do it yourself at home. Get some camomile flower, and place a generous handful of it in a pint of clear water. Then bring the mixture to a boil. When you have obtained a rather strong solution of the camomile tea, strain the mixture through cheesecloth.

Next, take a cake of castle soap, cut it into fine shavings, and add a pint of clear water to it. Allow this to simmer over a slow heat until all the soap has been dissolved. Then combine the camomile tea solution with the soap solution, and permit the mixture to cool.

The hair should be generally lathered with this mixture three times, and the rinsing should be permitted to remain on the hair for five to 10 minutes. A towel should be wrapped about the head during this period. Then the hair should be rinsed thoroughly in several clear waters, and a plain camomile tea rinse should be used as the last rinse.

The ordinary camomile tea rinse is prepared by boiling a handful of the camomile flower in a pint of water, straining the mixture through cheesecloth, and adding a pint of clear water to the resultant solution. A tablespoonful of peroxide may also be added to this solution if it is desired that the lightening properties of the rinse be enhanced.

ANSWERS TO QUERIES
Complexion

J. A. Y.: Correct cleansing methods, the daily use of a good astringent, and frequent face masks will help to close those enlarged pores and refine the texture of your skin.

Wrinkles

E. M.: One is never too old for beauty treatments, providing they are effective ones. A good skin food would do more for the wrinkles than the substance you name. Neck exercises should help to correct the flabbiness of your neck.

Cocoa Butter

Bunny: If you are over 30 years old, your weight is correct. Overweight is over weight. I've never heard of a case in which cocoa butter has caused the growth of hair on the face.

SPORT SNAP SHOTS

FRAMED
by Phil

During lulls between sport seasons it is a quaint old custom among alleged sport writers to assemble a questionnaire to test the knowledge of alleged readers.

The beauty of this idea is that there is slight possibility of the questions proving a boomerang. The writer knows the answers beforehand. Nothing is left to chance. He works backward from answer to question.

The questionnaire we have compiled is probably the most intelligent ever conceived and is designed to tax the ability of any reader to the utmost. Here we go:

What is the nickname of Walter "Pinky" Wilson, coach of Xenia Central High School?

What team backed by the Lang Chevrolet Co. has won the city softball title for the last two seasons? How can it be prevented from making it three straight?

Barring a tie score or a postponement on account of rain or something, do you think that either Cincinnati or Chicago will win the baseball opener between the Reds and Cubs April 12?

Who is the present heavyweight champion? What is his name? Do you find these questions related? What relationship? First cousins? Second? Are you related? To whom? What makes you think so? Never mind.

Do you think it right that almost everybody else is going to see the Reds perform next week and we have to stay to home? Have you no sympathy?

Why was it, do you suppose, that our tennis racket went to pieces at a crucial moment during an exciting match with Bill Clemans, the California Bill Clemans, Sunday?

Do you think all this is a lot of nonsense so far? Have you any hopes it will improve? On what do you base your conclusions? Have you any conclusions? Do you get any satisfaction out of having them?

What three sports are we thinking of? What do ping-pong, wrestling and basketball have in common? What does former Sheriff Ohmer Tate have in common?

All answers to the above questionnaire must be received by this department by midnight of last April 1, on which evening we will be burning the midnight oil until the witching hour is reached. Communications addressed through the mail and postmarked before the deadline hour will be acceptable. Actually, however, there is no sending in any answers, but do as you please. As a matter of fact, there probably is some sense to what has been written here but for the life of us we have been unable to find what it is.

The Red Wings now sport a tremendous lead of fifteen games in the Recreation Bowling League. Earl Gannon had a brilliant series of 665, based on scores of 247, 231 and 187, followed by Jess Anderson with 625. Box score:

Ten Teams Enrolled In Softball Leagues

SPRING VALLEY IS ADMITTED TO FILL TWO LEAGUE RANKS

Only Three Of Last Season's Teams To Play This Year

Ten teams will again be enrolled in softball competition here this summer under auspices of the Xenia Playground Association.

The entrants, admitted at a reorganization meeting in the assembly room of the Court House Monday night, are: Lang Chevrolet Co., downtown Country Club and Central High School, survivors of last season; Cloisy Anderson's Abattoirs, Xenia Hatcheries, American Legion, O. S. and S. O. Home, Company L, Spring Valley and a team composed of former Central High and St. Bridget High students.

A precedent was broken when the association approved the application of Spring Valley, a team outside Xenia, for admission. Under ordinary circumstances teams from Xenia exclusively would have been given preference, but a sufficient number of teams from within the city was not forthcoming, hence the departure from the past custom.

J. Walker Gibeay was re-elected president of the association and Earl E. Boxwell was again elected secretary-treasurer. Loring D. Shephard, deputy county recorder, was elected vice-president, succeeding Paul Turnbull, and these three officers will constitute the Softball Commission.

Representatives of the ten teams voted to retain last year's rule under which ten players rather than nine will constitute a team. As was the case last year, the names of twelve players may be submitted on eligibility list.

All eligibility lists must be submitted to the Softball Commission by 12 o'clock noon on Monday, April 11.

A movement to shorten the playing season was defeated, and the season will probably open on April 18 or 25, the date to be fixed by the commission. Last year the opening game was scheduled for April 20.

The ten teams will once more be grouped into two separate leagues by the commission, six probably being placed in the National League, as heretofore, and the other four in the American.

NEW INFORMATION CAUSE OF ACTIVITY OF INVESTIGATORS

ben, president of Princeton University, after he and Mrs. Hibben visited the Lindbergh home yesterday.

"I found an air of optimism prevailing at the Lindbergh house," he said.

Another cryptic message signed "Jafsie" appeared in a Manhattan newspaper today. It read:

"Yes, Everything O. K. Jafsie." Several mysterious messages bearing this signature have appeared in Manhattan and Bronx newspapers since the Lindbergh baby was kidnapped from his crib March 1. Their content has led to belief that kidnapers were establishing contact, or negotiators were trying to bring about a return of the infant by that means.

Col. H. Norman Schwartzkopf, commander of the New Jersey state police, refused to offer any explanation for Lindbergh's mysterious trips.

GLASGOW, Scotland, April 5.—Major Charles Schoeffel of the New Jersey state police was expected here today to interview the mother of Betty Gow, the Lindbergh baby's nurse.

A reservation for "Mr. Schoeffel" was booked at the Central Hotel. Mrs. Taylor, mother of Betty Gow, refused to discuss the kidnapping of the baby. She would not say if Major Schoeffel or London police had communicated with her.

LONDON, April 5.—An important break in the search for kidnapers of the Lindbergh baby was expected momentarily today with resources of London's famous Scotland Yard man-hunters at the disposal of Major Charles Schoeffel of the New Jersey state police.

The dramatic and mysterious arrival of Major Schoeffel, and his disappearance was cleared up when it became known that the New Jersey official had been in conference with Scotland Yard chiefs.

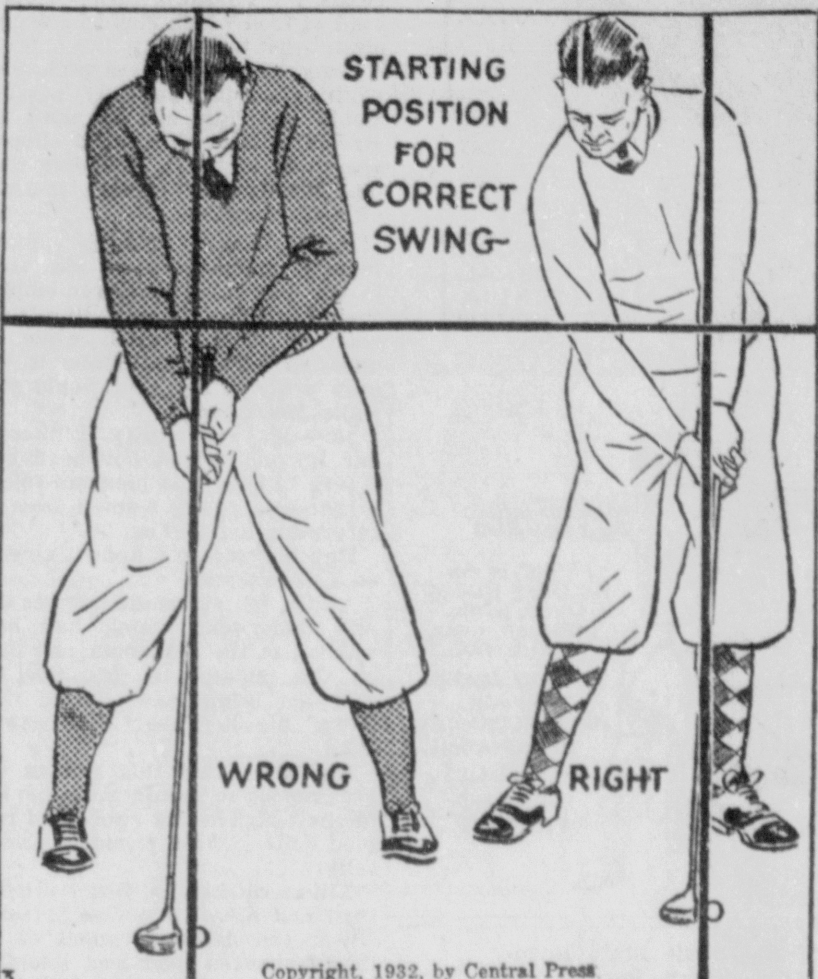

Major Schoeffel's investigations were understood to have turned to Scotland, presumably toward interviewing Mrs. Taylor, mother of the Lindbergh's nurse, Betty Gow, and investigating the records of other Lindbergh servants who came from England.

NORFOLK, Va., April 5.—The Norfolk triumvirate negotiating with persons they believe to be holding the infant son of Col. Charles A. Lindbergh continued to keep their actions secret today. Rear Admiral Guy H. Burrage, spokesman, declared that "nothing has happened to decrease my faith in the ultimate success of the negotiations."

John Hughes Curtis, another intermediary, still was absent from his home today. Admiral Burrage declined to reveal his whereabouts. Curtis and Mrs. Curtis left their Norfolk home Friday.

Golf Facts, Not Theories EIGHT POSITIONS ESSENTIAL IN SWING DECLARES EXPERT

Copyright, 1932, by Central Press

EDITOR'S NOTE: This is No. 3 of a series of golf lessons by Alex Morrison, golf's star teacher.

BY ALEX J. MORRISON
Golf's Foremost Technician

Has it ever occurred to you who struggled against the vagaries of golf that the game as it is taught is one of repression instead of expression?

Do you realize you are constantly kept on the defensive when playing?

You are forever being told, "Don't do this or don't do that." Instead of placing you in a position to use the PROPER muscles and thereby make a successful swing, your persecutors are simply nagging at you to suppress the use of the WRONG set of muscles.

The first thing to get straight in your mind is the positions and movements that will afford you the proper muscular action in your swing. The entire action of the correct swing can be divided into eight stages:

1—The starting position.
2—The initial move in the back-swing.
3—The beginning of the wind-up.
4—Completing the wind-up.
5—Starting the downswing.
6—The moment of impact.
7—After impact.
8—The finish.

Doubtless you have seen Bobby Jones and other champions photographed at some stage of their swing in positions approximating those I will show here. These positions and movements are ABSOLUTELY necessary to the successful execution of any type of shot. In fact, I have proved that the closer a player approximates them the greater and more lasting will be his success in golf.

However, no golfer to date has set out to make these positions and movements the foundation of his game because he has not known the reason for doing so. The reason, as I have already stated, is that they represent the proper muscular action and the application of the right principle in the swing.

In order to get a picture of the swing as a whole we must first study the positions and movements of the full swing. It's much easier to follow the full amount of action that takes place in the various parts of the body than it is to examine the shorter swings where the action is not so pronounced.

The accompanying illustration shows the correct starting position. The position of the body, arms, hands and the club that prepares the proper set of muscles for the action of the swing.

These same muscles should be in control of the club from the time the swing starts until well after the ball has been hit. And if the shot is to be successful, they must be in control when the club-head lands on the ball. For that reason the starting position should resemble the hitting position.

Studios Keep Up Work; McCrea Busy As Turk

All production signs in Hollywood studios point to a good summer. The big bosses (most of them) are out with early statements that shut-downs are unlikely.

Metro-Goldwyn-Mayer plans to continue the large production schedule it has maintained while some others were trimming sails. Paramount announces it plans a busy and varied summer with old favorites in new roles and several youngsters in big opportunities.

Harold Lloyd plans his busiest season in years and will shut down only during the Olympic Games. Eleven productions are ready for immediate work at the Fox Studios, which will carry it up to August when the new production year begins. Seven productions are under way at Warner Brothers and six more are slated for an early beginning, eliminating possibility of a summer recess.

United Artists plans several productions. Howard Hughes has something on the fire and Douglas Fairbanks is in the South Seas now with a large company.

For the third time in his comparatively brief screen career, Joel McCrea will play opposite Constance Bennett, David Selznick having pulled wires to allow him to appear in "The Truth About Hollywood."

If he is not finished with "The Bird of Paradise" in time, he will have to double up for a while, which would give him the distinction of playing opposite two of Radio's most important feminine stars simultaneously. Dolores Del Rio is in "The Bird of Paradise."

"The Truth About Hollywood" is the original story by Adela Rogers Hyland. Since the picture was announced report had given the lead to Helen Twelvetrees and Clara Bow before Connie finally drew the plum.

Charles Bickford, exponent of he-man roles on and off the screen, has purchased, sight unseen, an 110-acre island near Java. He has seen photos that show it abounds in coconut trees, monkeys and other tropical flora and fauna.

It is said that within six months, as soon as he completes a series of talkies for Paramount, Bickford will climb aboard one of his two whaling vessels and pay a visit to the island. He is recognized as one of the most unusual men in films. He fights openly and violently with the producers against what he considers inferior roles. He owns a chicken ranch in California, a lingerie shop, a cafe, a garage, a filling station, three ships, two whaling vessels and is dickering for a dude ranch near Ensenada, Mexico, where the country is open and the life and liquor raw.

"Thunder Below" is the present Bickford film with the lovely Talulah Bankhead. Rumblings are heard that Bickford may anytime explode in a tirade against his role. The producers are crossing their fingers and the critics are betting that if Bankhead and Bickford can be pulled through a picture together it will be a knock-out.

Forty tons of hay brought $29 a ton and 700 bushels of yellow seed corn were sold at from $1 to $1.20 a bushel at a public sale of hay and grain at Yellow Springs.

Mrs. Harry Sparks, Lansing, Mich., is visiting in Xenia.
